Lizeka Tandwa completed her MSc (Med) Bioethics and Health Law and Biomedical Sciences (Hons) at the University of the Witwatersrand. She is a bioethicist and associate lecturer at the Steve Biko Centre for Bioethics and she is programme head of the Bachelor of Health Sciences (Hons) in Bioethics and Health Law programme.

She is also a researcher at the Academy of Sciences of South Africa (ASSAf) for the State of Laboratory Biosafety and Biosecurity in the SADC Region. Her current research interests include public health ethics, biosafety, biosecurity and dual-use of research.