In this framework, best practices and strict operating procedures are applied, with respect to stockpile management, transport, and handling. Moreover, all explosive munitions are stored in secure facilities, in order to ensure their optimal protection against undesired temperatures and humidity levels. In addition, munitions that have expired are duly characterized as surplus, and consequently destroyed and removed from active service. Furthermore, since the 1st of September 2014, the Centre for the Laboratory Testing of Gunpowder and Ammunition has commenced its operations. In this facility laboratory tests of ammunition propellants are conducted, according to international standards, in order to achieve their categorization based on quality. The tests are conducted on a priority basis, for the ammunition which is used in training activities, with the ultimate aim of conducting the appropriate tests on all the ammunition of the National Guard. At the same time, the procedures concerning the accreditation of the Centre are underway, according to the ISO17025 standard.
